The first through freight via Ithaca since the re-opening of the Cayuga Southern was a car load of lumber for H. and P. O. Yawger.

The water in Cayuga lake was never known to be higher at this season of the year than it now is.—Auburn paper. The water in Cayuga lake is a foot lower now than at any time last year.

A man named Robert Christian, while suffering from delirium tremens, deliberately lay down in front of an approaching railroad train at Rochester and was cut to pieces.

The handsomest sign on the street has just been put out by P. T. Howell, furnishing undertaker. It is one of T. J. Kennedy's jobs, which will fully account for the good taste displayed in lettering.

John Lawlor, of Venice, was killed while assisting in raising a barn. He was walking across the stretchers on loose boards laid down for the purpose, the boards gave way precipitating him down a distance of thirty feet.

The Auburnian's Waterloo correspondent says: "The drum and fife band from the first ward, South Waterloo, has been engaged to play at Union Springs on Decoration Day. The boys are all rattling drummers, while the fifeers are second to none. They will make good music.

Several new board walks have been laid recently: Wm. Rickon, Center street; H. C. Wyckoff, Ridgeway street, and Mrs. Peckham, Homer street. We presume there are others that have not come under our notice, at least we are sure there are others that need rebuilding.

TEMPERANCE HOTEL.—The Beaman House is undergoing repairs and will be opened soon as a temperance house, with Alexander Chambers as landlord. Mr. Chambers' experience in hotel keeping will enable him to acceptably meet the wants of the traveling public.

Brotherton was to-day removed from his old cell at the jail, and given the large room on the upper floor occupied by Hoppin during his incarceration. The old man is highly pleased at the change, and special keeper Stout, of Springport, father of Under Sheriff Stout, takes charge of him until his execution, July 11th.—Baltimore

LAST EVENING'S CONCERT.—The Presbyterian church was filled last night at the trial of the new organ, and judging from expressions of approbation, the entertainment gave unbounded satisfaction. Mr. I. V. Flagler's organ playing fully sustained the high character accorded him in the testimonials of the press, and we take pleasure in adding our endorsement of his skill as an organist. The audience gave expression of their appreciation in frequent applause. The Andante from Beethoven's Symphony in C minor, the Marche Funebre, Chopin, and his improvisations were worthy of especial mention. The latter exhibited the capacity of the instrument and Mr. Flagler's mastery skill in improvising to the best advantage.

The singing of Mrs. Meaker and Mrs. Brinkerhoff will be remembered with pleasure by all who heard them. Auburn may well be proud of such gifted musicians. The ladies were greeted with applause at every appearance, and in response to enclosures sang a number of pieces not down on the program—"Donald Blain," Mrs. Brinkerhoff, "The Lord is my Shepherd" Mrs. Meaker and Mrs. Brinkerhoff, "Say not Farewell" and "Nearer my God to Thee," by Mrs. Meaker, were superb, the last, best known and loved, was faultlessly rendered and greatly appreciated. If "First impressions are lasting," our Auburn friends will always be looked upon with favor here.

We would not close without giving a word of commendation to Mr. House for the thoroughly workmanlike manner in which he has evidently put up the organ. It has proved to be, in all respects, precisely as represented by him, and we do not hesitate to say that, were it necessary for a builder of such known ability to give reference, the same would be cheerfully given him by the Presbyterian church of Union Springs.

The decorating harmonizes with the trimmings of the church and is a testimonial to the artistic skill of a citizen, being the handiwork of Mr. N. S. Jennings.

The reporter of a newspaper in the pursuit of his duty, says the Ethna Advertiser, is not a deadhead. A "deadhead" is one who gets something for nothing. Instead of being a deadhead, a newspaper reporter, representing his newspaper, more than pays his way, even if he pay no admission at the door. The balance is invariably on his side.

Yawger, situate in the town of Springport, for the purpose of paying the debts of the said William R. Yawger, he will receive bids for the same until the 15th day of June, 1879. JOHN V. B. YAWGER, Committee.
