

BULLETIN NEWS.

Mrs. Mame Scitgield of Seneca Falls, well known in Auburn, appears in the cast for "Fatiniza," with the Boston Idealists. She plays a minor part under the name of Marietta Scitgield.

The O. H. Burdick, Jr., property on John street was sold at auction Thursday by F. M. Smith. It was struck off to M. S. O'Brien, the popular clothier for $5,200.

One of the simple factors of greatness in small things, is a little machine invented by W. J. Comstock of this city, for producing a simple iron book to be used on the D. M. Osborne machine. The original cost of production has been reduced two-thirds by this creditable invention, which does away with the detail of flogging in bending the iron.

Hector H. Tutbill.

His Death Last Evening—Something About the Man.

Hon. Hector H. Tutbill, whose serious illness has heretofore been noticed, died at his residence in Moravia Friday evening at 5 p. m., in the 66th year of his age. Mr. Tutbill was born at Goshen, Orange county, from where when he was but a year old, his parents removed to this county. The first thirty-three years of his life, he spent on a farm, obtaining a good common school education in the meantime. Then he became the proprietor of the foundry in Moravia. Subsequently he became connected with the National Bank of Moravia of which in 1866 he became President and afterwards engaged in mercantile pursuits with Mr. Everson. He served gallantly in the war and was captain of the Moravia company of the 49th, when it achieved its triumph as the "Squirrel Shooters."

In politics Mr. Tutbill was first a whig and then a Republican. He served three terms as supervisor and served two terms in the legislature. In his second term came the memorable contest over Conkling and Platt, in which Mr. Tutbill stood squarely by the resigned senators and delivered one or two notable speeches in their behalf. He never flinched through his course was quite generally disapproved by his constituents. Mr. Tutbill's life was an example of straightforwardness. He will be greatly missed, especially in Moravia where his influence was felt in every social and public movement.

Funeral of H. H. Tutbill.

Impressive Masonic Services at the Church and Grave.

The funeral services of the late H. H. Tutbill were largely attended at Moravia, Wednesday, 31st, the Presbyterian church being crowded long before the services began. After a brief prayer at the house, by Rev. Geo. H. Bailey of the Congregational church, the remains were borne to the sacred edifice and were followed by the Salem Town Commandery, K. T., of Auburn, 30 men, the masonic lodge of Moravia, 70 men, and the village fire department, 40 men. The bearers were Messrs. William Perry Everson, Leander Pitts, Joseph Dresser, Wm. Solover, Lyman Homan. As the procession entered the church, the organ sounded a solemn dirge and the choir afterward sang a funeral anthem. The sermon was delivered by Rev. J. J. Braxton, of this city, and other portions of the exercises were performed by Revs. Geo. H. Bailey, of the Congregational church, M. S. Harl, of the Baptist church, and Mr. F. W. of the Methodist church, all of Moravia, and Rev. S. A. Benson, of Union Springs. After these regular services, Commander Searls, of Salem Town, assisted by Prelate Willis, read the beautiful ritual of the Knights Templar, the choir singing funeral hymns before and after. The remains of the deceased were then taken to Mt. Vernon cemetery and interred in the family lot, the regular masonic funeral rites being performed by the village lodge. There were many Auburnians present at the funeral and Hon. Geo. I. Post, of Fair Haven, with other county notables were also in attendance.

Real Estate at Auction.

Tuesday afternoon F. M. Smith sold several parcels of real estate at auction on account of the estate of Abijah Fitch. There were nine parcels disposed of and the following statement shows the location of the property, the purchasers and price paid. Nos. 1 & 2 Cottage Place, house and lot, E. B. Parnley, $1,200. The Cornell Regatta.

Cornell university held her inter-class regatta, Thursday, on Cayuga lake, and although the weather was cold and a wind from the northeast was blowing, the time made by the different classes was fairly creditable. The four oared race between the crews of '84 and '85 was won by the former in 10:36 3/4; and the one between '83 and '87 by the seniors in 12:24. The course traveled was a mile and a half along the west side of the lake. The single scull race between C. A. Raht, '83 and H. S. Howland, '84, for the Francis prize, valued at $1000, the former won in 11:45.

Facts are Stubborn Things.

Is there anything in any of the numerous advertisements of the Royal Baking Powder to show that the Royal does not use Ammonia and Tartaric Acid as cheap substitutes for Cream of Tartar? Or is there any charge, or the slightest insinuation in those advertisements, that Cleaveland's Superior Baking Powder contains anything but the purest Grade Cream of Tartar or Bicarbonate of Soda, with a small portion of flour as a preservative? Ammonia and Tartaric Acid produce a cheap leavening gas, which is not to be compared in the practical test of baking, with the more desirable Carbonic Acid gas generated by the exclusive use of the expensive Cream of Tartar. Use Cleaveland's Superior Baking Powder. Judge for yourself of its superiority.

Preparing Public Settlement.

A Wayne County Paper's Judgment Upon Sam Williams and His Counsel.

The Lyons Press says: Judge K. A. Woodin, of Auburn, was in town last week on business relating to the Williams trial. While here a reporter of the Press made some inquiries and ascertained that he had issued about twenty-five subpoenas. The persons will be the same ones that testified in Williams' behalf on the former trial. The Judge is not clear as to the future action of counsel in the case, but he thinks that Mr. Payne will on Monday next, in the special term at Rochester, move for a change of venue to Ontario or Seneca county, on the ground that a prejudice exists in Wayne county sufficient to sway the jury. Upon that point the reporter differed with the learned judge and finally asserted that one could go upon the streets of any village in the county and pick up twelve men who would render a verdict in accordance with the testimony. "That's just what we do not want," replied Mr. Woodin. "We want a jury that will decide in our favor." It is a well known fact that two-thirds of the spectators who filled the court room during the last hours of the previous trial, were in favor of acquitting the prisoner, and that the only time that any act was committed to the contrary was upon the right that the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. Upon that occasion a gang of boys in the gallery applauded the verdict, but the persons that entered later that applause were not responsible for their actions and do not constitute any part of the jury system of Wayne county. The Auburn newspapers have from the first kept up a great hue and cry about the prejudice that exists in this county and especially in Lyons, though the editors of the different sheets know full well that not a word of it is true. Williams has been regarded from the very first a man of unusual nerve. Judge Woodin is of the opinion that his indifference is caused from ignorance rather than courage. "He is the poorest client that I ever had," said Mr. W., "and I hope I may never have another like him."

Sheriff Choate's Adventure.

Thrown from His Wagon by a Roadway Collision.

Sheriff Choate went to Weedsport, Wednesday p. m., and had nearly reached this city on his return, at about seven o'clock, when he met with an accident that might have resulted much more seriously than it did. He was just getting within the street lamp district, on North street, when a lamp-lighter with his torch in hand, ran across the street in front of the sheriff's horse, giving vent to some horrible boy's howl which frightened the equine and caused him to start up and shy to one side. This brought the sheriff's carriage into collision with John E. Allen's Osborne House opposite wagon, which was going in the opposite direction, and while the latter vehicle suffered a broken cross-bar, the carriage was turned completely over and Mr. Choate was thrown heavily forward, striking on his forehead and left side. His horse broke away and ran with a portion of the harness hanging to him and bringing up in the stable behind the jail, whither he proceeded by way of North and Genesee streets, he brought the first hint of the sheriff's disaster. "Doc" Tenity hitched up the other horse and Deputy Siles started out with Dr. Baker to find Mr. Choate. As they reached the front of the court house, however, they discovered the sheriff alighting from a carriage in which he had been brought from the scene of the accident. Mr. Choate had remained conscious all through, but was in a dazed condition and needed prompt attention. His forehead and nose were badly cut, his left shoulder, arm and leg were bruised and his whole system much shaken. As a permanent reminder of his adventure he will probably always carry a small seal on the bridge of his nasal organ. A carrier boy who was riding with the sheriff by the city limits was also thrown out and suffered a dislocated wrist.

Their Welcome.

Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Spencer Pleasantly Received in Ithaca.

The Rev. Mr. Spencer and wife received a hearty welcome at the hands of their Ithaca parishioners says the Ithaca Journal. Upon their arrival on Saturday they were invited to dine at the residence of a prominent member of the church where they were entertained while their goods were being set to rights at the parsonage. The parsonage had been newly carpeted and painted and made very cozy throughout. A committee of ladies prepared supper for the new pastor and family, and left odibles enough in the cupboards to last several days. In the evening a largely attended reception was held in the church parlors, where Mr. and Mrs. Spencer were introduced to several hundred new friends. An address of welcome was made by Rev. H. McGee, to which Rev. Mr. Spencer responded in a very happy manner. Mr. Spencer, whom the writer had the pleasure of meeting to-day, pronounces the reception as one of the pleasantest affairs of the sort ever witnessed.

A Rig Dam-ged.

Yesterday James Warne let a horse to a man who said that he intended to go to Skaneateles stating that urgent business required his presence with that of his sister. Mr. Warne let the rig but no sister went with the party. In the afternoon Warne's horse collided with another at the corner of Franklin and Holly streets, much to the damage of the Warne vehicle. Mr. Warne now contemplates a suit in court for damages to his property.

A Welcome Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver P. Young, of 79 Van Anden street, returned from their bridal trip at 4:35, yesterday, and were welcomed this evening by a party of about fifty guests. A fine supper was served, the crowning feature of which was a mammoth and handsomely decorated bridal cake.

Drunkenness and Lunacy.

Charged Against Alonzo Edees by His Wife—A Jury's Findings.

Weedsport Cayuga Chief: A commission of lunacy inquired, appointed by his honor Judge Day, commenced its session at D. C. Knapp's office, on Tuesday, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not Alonzo Edees, of Brutus, is competent to manage his property. Edees is the owner of a farm of upwards of 100 acres in the east part of the town, and the prosecution is in behalf of his wife, who claims that her husband is an habitual drunkard and likewise insane. The Commissioner is Hon. Howell B. Converse, of Port Byron, and Sheriff Choate summoned a jury, as follows: O. V. Lewis, H. L. Burrill, H. S. Tyrone, I. Chaudieron, R. G. Adams, Geo. C. Graham, O. F. Higley, G. A. Benedict, H. E. Burritt, D. Kevand, John Foreman, W. A. Warner, Clarence Calhoun.

F. M. Parsons appeared as counsel for Mrs. Edees.

The alleged lunatic is represented by Wm. Porter, of Jordan, and C. M. Elliott, of Weedsport. Some of the testimony was very amusing, especially the alleged insane expert of Edees—his self-imposed test to ascertain whether he was fit to be a Free Mason—his prayers to the Almighty, threatening to serve the devil unless he was answered—his pretended clairvoyance and spiritualism. Mrs. Edees testified that her husband had several times threatened her life, had brandished a knife and several times discharged a pistol. Mrs. Edees thought her husband had not been sober but twice since last December. Other testimony was introduced relative to the violence and eccentricities of Edees; but the petitioners were not able to show that the farm was neglected or property squandered. On the contrary, the evidence tended to show that everything was well looked after. After a brief summing up, Commissioner Converse charged the jury clearly and impartially. The jury unanimously found that Mr. Edees was competent to manage his own affairs, which is the end of this proceeding.

Convicted of Murder.

Julius J. Bailey Found Guilty of Killing His Father.

In the case of Julius J. Bailey, charged with the murder of his father, Josiah P. Bailey, at Hutchinson, Kansas, the trial was held in the District court and resulted in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. A local journal in commenting on the case says: "No verdict ever rendered in Reno county gave such general satisfaction as did this, and the feeling was so strong that had J. J. Bailey been cleared he would not have been safe from the mob." Mrs. Bailey, mother of the condemned prisoner, was interviewed after the trial, and in reply to questions of a reporter, stated her belief that the verdict was just—that "Julius murdered his own father." She is reported also as stating that there had been bad feeling between father and son; that the former had for years been supporting the son's family, a wife and two children, hoping to get them fixed so they could shirk for themselves, but it seemed a futile effort, for they would run through with everything that was given them. Finally the father despairing of their ever doing anything and becoming afraid of his life, gave them notice to leave the place. The lady also stated that her husband was positive they had tried to poison him, and had so stated in her letters written while she was in New Jersey.

Fire in Union Springs.

A Disastrous Visit of the Flames to Courtney's Village.

A fire broke out in Union Springs, at about 4:30, yesterday morning, and proved a most disastrous affair for the village. It started in the bakery owned by James Brister, and burned from that point northward to Nate Howland's place. The business places destroyed included Brister's bakery, saloon and billiard room, the postoffice, Archibald Stewart's shoe shop, Carr's peanut and fruit store, a bakery kept by a woman whose name is not learned, and Etzel Wood's building and law office. The village having no regular fire department, the citizens had to turn out and fight the flames as best they could with buckets of water. By direction of a local insurance agent, also, carpets were taken from a store and spread out upon the roofs of neighboring places and kept saturated with water. The flames were nearly subdued at one time, when an explosion occurred in Stewart's shoe shop. The cause of the explosion is not known, but it is supposed to have resulted from powder of some other explosive left in the shop. Ed. Curry and Albert Carr were hurt by flying glass, and it is reported that Courtney was also injured slightly. At any rate the carman's dog was burned in the fire. The damage in total is estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000.

Rev. H. F. Spencer.

His Late People Did Miss Farwell and Gen-erally Remember His Services.

The farewell reception to Rev. H. F. Spencer took place at the First M. E. church, last evening. The exercises were opened at eight o'clock with an organ voluntary by Will H. Adams, followed by a selection, "Kneeling Bells," sung by a male quartette, Messrs. C. D. Darling, first tenor, E. W. Osborn, second, A. J. Barber, first bass, C. G. Adams, second. Rev. Dr. Hawley then offered a prayer and the quartette sang "The Nave in the Sand." After these introductory exercises, C. A. Porter was made chairman for the occasion, and the following resolutions were presented and unanimously agreed to:

WHEREAS, In the Providence of God, the pastoral relation which has connected the Rev. H. F. Spencer with the society for the last two years has been severed, and in answer to the call of the church he has been appointed and transferred to another field of labor, therefore be it Resolved, That the Rev. H. F. Spencer has by his life and labors, by his faithful discharge of the duties pertaining to his holy office and ministry, secured the love and confidence of his people, which will follow and be with him in his new field of labor.

Resolved, That in Sister Spencer we have found capabilities which qualify her for the most advanced positions of usefulness in her sphere and that by her general disposition self-sacrificing spirit, modest Christian deportment, her purity of heart and life, she has won our esteem, confidence and love, which we hereby but feebly express in this our farewell greeting.

C. A. PORTER, J. F. PALMER, N. TURNER, Com.

Following the reading of the resolutions, the new pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Quail, delivered a brief address to Mr. Spencer and presented him on behalf of the church with beautiful testimonials of the regard he had won. The presents comprised a full dozen each of silver forks and teaspoons, a half dozen silver table-spoons and a berry spoon, all in cushioned cases. Mr. Spencer returned his thanks for the gifts as fully as his emotion would permit.

Among the ministers present were Rev. Dr. Hawley, Rev. Prof. Huntington and Rev. C. C. Hemenway, and the two first named made pleasant remarks after the presentation.

A prayer by Mr. Spencer, and the singing by the congregation of "Blest be the tie that binds," closed the formal exercises. The people then went forward to examine the gifts and to shake hands in farewell to the retiring pastor.

The Missing Link.

Railroad Projects and Plans of Great Interest—How Elmira will Benefit.

The Elmira Gazette says: "The quadrilateral formed by Elmira, Binghamton, Cortland, Ithaca, Canastota, Syracuse and Auburn is one of the most rapidly developing districts of the state. Its scenery is novel and picturesque and in many localities magnificent and wonderful; its agricultural resources varied and exhaustless. Elmira standing in one corner of the quadrilateral not only reaches out on two of the four sides but commands a diagonal route to its most distant point. Utica is another city soon to be included. This will complete the original design to bring Utica, Syracuse, Auburn, Cortland, Ithaca, Binghamton and Elmira within the closest sectional relations. Until now Utica has been the missing link. For many years, she has outstretched an arm in this direction; the Utica, Clinton & Binghamton road, as far as Smith's Valley, the Delaware & Hudson canal company, its present lessee, will gladly welcome a connection with Elmira. A route has almost been decided upon to leave Cortland and follow up the valley of the Otsego from Cortland to Georgetown and Smith's Valley, the terminus of the Utica road. Another project forms a new line from Cortland to Syracuse on the east side of the valley followed by the road already in operation. A new freight route from this city, by way of Cazenovi, Junction to Syracuse, is furnishing all the coal used by the West Shore road between Frankfort and Syracuse. The value of the connecting railroad, which shall command terminal at Utica, Canastota and Syracuse out of Elmira thus becomes unquestioned and insures an unprecedented future development. The business is foreshadowed in the extreme pressure upon its present resources and the projects in full operation are warranted by the most flattering indications.

How He Was Caught.

The Lansing Journal describes the catching of Houghtaling, mentioned in this paper yesterday: "Wednesday afternoon Frank H. Tarbell and two of the workmen on the abutments of the North Lansing trestle, chased and caught a young man on the railroad a little south of the trestle. His appearance aroused the suspicion that he was an escaped convict. An investigation proved that he was from the asylum in Auburn Prison. He had recently been transferred to the asylum and escaped on Monday. He was taken by his captors to North Lansing depot and a telegram sent to the prison and an official came out and took him in charge last evening. His name is Frederick Houghtaling."

"When is this 'ere train due?"

asked a rustic stranger watching and waiting at the archway where the Oswego River Railway comes through to Genesee street.
